Important Note—Wet installation on window film can take up to 30 days to fully cure. Until film is fully cured, there may be areas that are hazy, streaky, or contain bubbles smaller than the tip of your finger. If there are peeling edges or large bubbles, these need to be brought to the installers attention right away so that corrections can be made. If you have concerns with anything regarding the installation, please contact your Olee representative right away so that we can resolve the issue.
